- Support day to day operations of the department.
- Researching and developing tools to improve the department’s workflows
 - Resource library
 - E-Mail marketing
- Support development of engaging content
- Support development of ongoing events e.g. Organic World Congress
- Support implementation of ongoing campaigns
- Support development of publications

Skills, Experience and Qualifications

- Positive and eager to learn
- Marketing/Communications background
- High standard of English - Additional language is a plus
- Events experience is desirable.
- Experience with Adobe Suite is desirable.
- Experience with website Content Management Systems (WordPress/Drupal) and HTML/CSS knowledge is desirable.

Our Offer

Besides a truly international experience IFOAM – Organics International offers a monthly pocket money of 280 €, free accommodation in the flat of the organisation (Bonn) and a bike for transportation.

Please be aware that this offer is addressed only to students who need to do a compulsory internship (“Pflichtpraktikum”).

How to Apply

Please submit your application by email in one single file (PDF) to jobs@ifoam.bio, no later than April 10, 2021, indicating in the subject line the title of the position you apply for. Your application must include a cover letter and your CV. Additional documents may be asked for at a later stage.
